

Unlocking Your Potential

Dear Parents, Teachers, and PEAKers,

Students participated in an Escape Room challenge last week- they were searching for answers, investigating evidence, and most of all, using teamwork to solve a complex series of puzzles. Some teams completed it, and some teams didn't- but they all worked together and tried their best using teamwork skills! A tasty prize was enjoyed by all at the end.

We also learned the SCAMPER system, which is a series of creativity processes. The students learned a song to remember the list of processes, and we went through a class example. This week we'll deepen that knowledge in a solo SCAMPER activity.

We'll also be learning about Multiple Intelligences and taking an online quiz for each student to determine their own individualized profile, which they will then incorporate into our final project for this unit.

This Week's Activities: (April 15-19)

Intrapersonal

Multiple Intelligences Students will learn about Howard Gardner's Theory of Multiple Intelligences. They will create hypotheses on their own intelligences, and then take an online quiz to see if they were correct. They will later use the results in creating their final projects.

Interpersonal

Teaming Up 3rd and 5th grade students will be placed into small teams for the final project of this unit. We'll get to know the teammates and begin brainstorming possible features for their final escape room projects.

Creativity

SCAMPER Students will review the SCAMPER song and system, and practice using the various creativity processes on a commonplace item.

Looking for Clues,

J. Slead
